Lili Reddington

Adaptable. Her solution-oriented and easy-going attitude allows Lili to welcome any new challenges with enthusiasm.

Shortly after graduating from college, Lili moved from her native France to the U.S., and has since been enjoying life in sunny Arizona (after a quick detour in beautiful Denver, CO). She enjoys running and all things fitness, skyping her family, reading Fashion blogs, watching TED talks, home improvement shows, and College GameDay. She always looks forward to traveling back to France with her husband and young daughter and showing them the most memorable places from her childhood.
